Spiritual Alliances – Emma Bragdon (2)

The author, physicians and patients discuss their remarkable experiences when visiting João de Deus in Brazil, at his healing centre, the Casa de Dom Inácio. There is practical advice on managing a visit to the Casa, and commentary on broadening healing practices in the wider world.

Spiritual Cures – Ismar Estulano Garcia

An analysis of spiritual healing and mediumship, an interview with João de Deus, a description of the work done at the Casa de Dom Inácio and a discussion on its interaction with Brazilian law.

Saint Ignatius Loyola – F. A. Forbes

A short biography of the life of St. Ignatius de Loyola (Dom Inácio), the founder of the Jesuits and the patron of the Casa de Dom Inácio.

Healing – Wonder, Mystery and John of God – David-Films (2)

A film focusing on the life of Dom Inácio (St Ignatius of Loyola), for whom the Casa de Dom Inácio is named, and his ongoing work in Brazil. An exquisitely photographed, award-winning account of the healing work of the Entities performed through the mediumship of João de Deus, and the spirituality of the Casa de Dom Inácio. Numerous interviewees include João himself, mediums and helpers at the Casa, visitors seeking healing, and doctors.

Miracle Man: John of God (2 + 1 in Portuguese)

A thorough examination of the physical and spiritual surgeries carried out by João de Deus at the Casa de Dom Inácio. Those analysing the progress of patients before, during and after treatment have strong medical and scientific qualifications. The patients describe in detail their physical symptoms and state of mind during their journeys to healing. The film also makes perceptive observations about the nature of the healing work and its relationship to conventional medical practices.

I do not heal, God is the one who heals: A tribute to John of God – Emma Bragdon (2)

This short work focuses strongly on the general issue of spirituality and spiritual healing at the Casa de Dom Inácio, with comments by prominent people and volunteers at the Casa on the nature of the work done there. It conveys the power of the healing and spiritual lessons in a low key but very effective way.

John of God – Documentary by Fergus Tighe (2 DVDs, 1 Video Cassette)

An excellent documentary about the journey of an Irish family to the Casa de Dom Inácio in Abadiânia, Brazil. Their story, and interviews with patients, Casa volunteers and visiting doctors.

John of God – ABC Primetime

A program which is a followup to an earlier ABC report on people seeking healing at the Casa de Dom Inácio. The emphasis is almost entirely placed on physical surgeries. The followups show mixed results, but are done rather too early to be conclusive.

Journey to Abadiânia – Bruce Lewis

A collection of personal testimonies on the experience of seeking healing at the Casa de Dom Inácio, eloquently expressed. The main emphasis is on physical surgeries, but invisible surgeries are also covered.

John of God – Visionthang

An older (2002) film showing the healing sessions at the Casa de Dom Inácio. The nature of the Casa and João's work is mainly explained by means of English subtitles, but there is some commentary by Robert Pellegrino-Estrich.

Surgeries and Treatment Testimonials – Adrienne Grierson

This short film is unique among this collection, in that it shows a healing session in the main hall at the Casa de Dom Inácio, with João in entity as José Valdevino, the details enhanced by English subtitles giving the Entity's instructions and commentary during the session, starting with João speaking prior to incorporation.

Surgeries – 16-18 July 2008

A series of physical surgeries carried out at the Casa de Dom Inácio by João de Deus. A visual record with no extra commentary.
